Capital Society Prepares for Arms Council

Considerable Entertaining of Foreign Delegates Is Planned by Leaders and the State Department

Homes for Envoys Sought

Japanese Mission May Use Home of Larz Anderson, Ex-Ambassador at Tokio

Special Dispatch to The Tribune
WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—A social life in Washington as August nears an end is a usual thing, and seldom have so many wires been in operation at this season for coming events. The disarmament conference, which will pour hundreds of important foreigners into the capital during November, must be looked after far ahead of the arrival of delegates, and while the housing problem is exceedingly acute, there are other branches of preparation occupying the State Department and especially the Under Secretary of State, Henry P. Fletcher, in whose hands rests for the time being the social welfare and glory of the city.

A banquet and a luncheon, each to have 400 men and women as guests, are the largest of the series of entertainments planned by the State Department with the exception of a Congressional reception for which $5,000 has been appropriated, and another of like importance. There is a luncheon for two hundred persons mentioned as the only other hospitality planned by the State Department, but of course there will be constant entertaining in the embassies and legations most concerned and in the homes or hotels allotted to the delegates.

The President and Mrs. Harding will have at some period to entertain all of the foreign delegates and, of course, the diplomats in Washington representing their various countries. As the weather is too uncertain and the season too late for outdoor affairs, it will probably be a White House reception. Mrs. Harding is devoting her mornings to dictating a long series of memoranda to the executive officials who serve her in the absence of Miss Harlan, social secretary to the President's wife, who is taking a rest in Canada.

Japanese Delegation to Occupy Anderson Home

It seems to be almost a fixed thing that the Japanese delegation, composed of about seventy persons, or at least the heads of the mission, will occupy the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson, on Massachusetts Avenue, Mr. Anderson was recently in Washington and it is supposed that some arrangements along this line were discussed. Having been Ambassador to Japan, and his beautiful and commodious residence being in the heart of the city, it seems particularly fitting that the residence should furnish the home for the heads of the mission, or at least some of them.

Undoubtedly the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leiter, on Dupont Circle, and only a block and a half removed from the Anderson home, will be sought for by the British heads. The Leiter home has not been kept up with any degree of elegance since the death of Mrs. L. Z. Leiter, and has seldom been occupied by the family. During the war it was given over to British officers, who remained there long after the armistice was signed.

That Mrs. Harding is arranging to carry out the winter's official social program is not to be doubted, for every possible detail has been being fully arranged. She has been more lavish in the use of flowers than any mistress the White House has had since the days of the great French garden party, and at the propagating of the garden party, which will be held in the garden, she has been very successful. That in view. There will be a double drain on the gardens and hothouse because of the mission coming and, as in the former administrations, outside florists may be called upon to help out.

Diplomats Will Return to Washington Next Week

Diplomats will begin to return to Washington by the end of next week. The British Ambassador, Sir Auckland Gordon, will return early in September, while members of the mission will divide the time between Washington and Bar Harbor and house party visits—until the end of next month.

The Japanese Ambassador, who was long ago expected to sail for Europe and postponed the trip, sailed to-day and will join Baroness de Cartier, his wife, who has been abroad for several months. He called at the White House Tuesday to bid adieu to the President.

One of the most interesting and important diplomatic ceremonies of the week was the call of Stephen Panaretos, the newly appointed Minister from Bulgaria at the White House, when he presented his credentials to President Harding. Dr. Panaretos left the diplomatic service when he failed to be in sympathy with the policies of his country, and he is a Greek and a woman, have resided in or near Boston. His reinstatement is a matter of satisfaction and congratulation. He first came to the United States in December, 1914. Recently the Minister and Mrs. Panaretos have been at W. D. Anderson, Mass., where the former lectured before the Institute of Politics. Dr. Panaretos sailed for New York aboard the America to-day, accompanied by Mrs. Panaretos, and they will remain abroad for about six weeks, while the former serves as Bulgarian delegate to the League of Nations. Dr. and Mrs. Panaretos will again occupy 1235 Sixteenth Street, which was their long-time home at the time of the return of the minister.

It is said that Washington has a wedding that touches on the main chapter in interest, but that of Major George Oakley Totten and Mrs. Victoria Post, a well-known woman sociologist of Sweden, bordered on the most of the city.

Lake George Hotel Reservations Set a September Record

Resort Prepares for Great Fall Season; Speed Boats Compete in Big Labor Day Regatta Over Club Course

Special Dispatch to The Tribune
LAKE GEORGE, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Reservations for the month of September are heavy and the hotels along the lake are looking forward to a big fall business. This week everything in the line of hotel, boarding house, and rooming house has been crowded to its capacity, and in many cases people who had not made advance reservations had to journey to outlying resorts in order to get suitable accommodations.

Wednesday the annual meeting of the Lake George Association was held and Henry W. Hayden, of New York City, was re-elected president for another year. The association took in many new members at the meeting and an active campaign was started to increase the membership.

Special events are being planned for Labor Day at the Lake George Club. During the afternoon a series of foot races will be held over the club course. In the evening dancing, and possibly fireworks, will entertain the club members and their friends. The annual open lawn tennis tournament for the championship of Lake George was finished this week at the Lake George Club. In the men's singles, A. H. Chapin Jr., of Springfield, Mass., defeated A. H. Chapin Sr., of New York City, 1-6, 6-2, 7-5. In the men's doubles, A. H. Chapin Sr. and A. H. Chapin Jr., defeated R. L. Jones and Ingo Hartman, of New York City, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4. In the mixed doubles Miss Graham, of New York City, and Miss Hope Bush, of New York City, defeated Mr. and Mrs. Ingo Hartman, of New York City, 6-4, 6-3.

A Mitchell Palmer, former Attorney General, was a guest at the Port William Hotel, where he was met by a large number of guests at cards and tea at the Casino this week.
